

Responses to seeing God revealed in creation:

1. For me, seeing the new growth of the emerging tulips reminds me of the new life we have in Christ! I praise God for His mercy that He bestows me each new day.
2. I praise God for the warmth of sun on my face and the beautiful blue sky after many overcast days.
3. I praise God for the signs of spring. Birds chirping, flowers popping up, and the grass turning green.
4. While working outdoors I looked up to see the cold dense fog surrounding me. The cold intensified as my fingers began to hurt and go numb. I was amazed at how my view had been reduced by the incoming fog. I continued to work and do what was needed. Slowly the sun emerged and the fog disappeared. I was able to see things more clearly and was grateful for the feeling back in my fingers. The view I was used to seeing was back again also. God's view is always clear and for that I thank him, for his understanding and patience even when we don't see eye to eye, HIS Glory is always there, sometimes we just have to wait for it to shine and feel His warmth again.
5. I praise God for the families spending time together outside enjoying the nice spring days.
6. I praise and thank God for all the people pulling together in this time of need. Seeing people come together to help each other in ways they might never of thought of. It's God working through these people, and I'm sure He will bring us all through this together.
7. I was looking out the window and watching two birds gathering small pieces of whatever they could find on the ground for nest making. God told me "See how I make available materials for the birds to make their nest? I will provide for you too." Whether that be a spiritual, emotional, financial, physical or whatever need we have...God will provide for us so, do not be anxious or worry.
